Candidates on the Republican Ticket--Who they are,

What they are, What they Have Done, and How Much.

T. H. Merrill, candidate for representative, is a son of Apostle M. W. Merrill, and was born in 1857. He has lived in Richmond, Cache Co., Utah, for over forty years; was educated in the district schools of the county, the B. Y. College and the University of Utah; was one of the leading school teachers in the county and Logan city for twelve years. Performed a successful mission in the southern states during the years of 1891-92-93. Was railroad contractor for four years, and superintendent of the Richmond Co-op for the past two years. He has had much experience as a farmer, in fact, Mr. Merrill is a man of wide experience and one who knows the needs of the people of the county. He will be a most efficient legislator.

William C. Parkinson, the Republican nominee for treasurer of Cache County, was born at Kaysville, Davis Co., Utah Aug. 2, 1855. His life has been closely identified with the people of northern Utah and southern Idaho ever since. Much of his time from early boyhood has been faithfully devoted to the cause which his high religious sentiments attached him to. Mr. Parkinson has never known idleness, but his experience at various kinds of labor has covered a wide range, including farming, freighting, lumbering, merchandising, and superintending large industrial and business enterprises, all of which have shown remarkable growth and success under his direction. Notwithstanding that Mr. Parkinson early entered a very busy career, he still found time to obtain a good liberal education at various institutions of learning in this state.

The many positions which Mr. Parkinson has held as a leader among large bodies of people, and his considerate treatment of all with whom he comes in contact has endeared him to his acquaintances, and peculiarly fits him for the position to which his fellow citizens have named him as a candidate. Mr. Parkinson deserves the consideration of the voters of Cache Co., and will add dignity to the splendid ticket put up by his party.

William W. Hall is one of Utah's typical products, and one of the very best at that. He is a specimen of those who, reared amidst all the rude environments of the West, has still found time to polish himself with the refinements which in the East are the standard of culture. The fact that he has traversed no less than 33 states of the Union has been a great factor in giving him the great breadth of view on subjects, political and social, which he is well known to be conversant with.

He was a delegate to the National Irrigation Congress held in Chicago in 1900, and his work there was commended by some of the most prominent members at that gathering. He is a graduate of the Brigham Young College of Logan, and of the Salt Lake Business College. He has just recently returned home after having successfully filled a two years' mission.

Mr. Hall is a type of the younger generation, who base their credentials upon facts in preference to fiction; who believes in deeds rather than doubtful promises, and who is not only content to stand upon a platform, but who proposes that every plank is made to conform to the up-building of a grand homogeneous whole.

The voters of Cache County will make no mistake when they elect William W. Hall to the next state legislature. That he will go there is a positive certainty.

D. R. Roberts our candidate for representative, was born in Logan March 30, 1871. His father Robert D. Roberts was one of the old hand cart veterans of 1856, and one of Cache Valley's pioneers, having settled in Logan in 1856, and is now and has ever been an honored citizen. His mother Hannah Roberts came to Utah in 1864 with ox teams, her father's family settling in Smithfield. She has been a woman possessed of fine womanly qualities and was an ideal wife and mother. The early youth of Mr. Roberts was spent much as other boys nowadays. He assisted his father on the farm in summer and attended district school in winter. In those days canyon work was more common than now and its hardships were familiar to Mr. Roberts who worked there hauling lumber and getting out wood. In May 1890 he graduated from the B. Y. College and returned again to farm work. In 1892 he worked at O. S. L. Ry. shops in Salt Lake. In Oct. 1892 he entered employ of Geo. A. Lowe in his implement house in Logan, where he remained until he went on a mission Dec. 14, 1892. Just previous to leaving on his mission Dec. 6, he was married to Tryphena Davis, daughter of D. D. Davis of Logan. Was in the mission field two years laboring in Indiana and Illinois, and acting all of the time in capacity of secretary of the conference. He performed a good mission. Shortly after his return he entered the employ of Geo. A. Lowe until Sept. '96 when he entered employ of Elevator & Storage Co. where he remained until May '99 and in September following commenced the Grain, Seed & Produce business, adding later a line of implement and farm machinery. This business has gradually grown until now it means much to Cache county; and its markets extend from Canada to Mexico, and from Missouri River to Pacific Coast. In his business relations he has been brought in close contact with almost every farmer in the valley, with whom he has a record for fair dealing and honest treatment. He has done more, probably, than any dealer in the valley towards opening up new markets for its farm products. We have today an unlimited market in California for our hog products; it is to Mr. Roberts that we are indebted for opening it up. This market alone has brought to the farmers of the valley during the last three years a net revenue of over $80,000.

Dave is wholly a type of Utah's home product, and the success he has achieved in life has been due entirely to his own efforts and against great odds. He is just now entering upon his career in life and certainly has a bright and promising future. As a representative he will do honor to himself and be a credit to his county.

Herschel Bullen, Jr., Republican nominee for State Senator, was born in Richmond in 1870. His father is a native of the State of Maine, his mother coming from Haverfordwest, Wales. His early life was spent on the farm in Richmond and Lewiston. He received his education in the public schools of the county, the Brigham Young college, and the University of Utah, graduating from the latter institution in 1890. The next three years of his life were spent in the district schools at Richmond and Lewiston, and in the Co-op store at Richmond. During the school year of 1893-94 he taught school in Logan and in April, 1894, left for Europe where he filled a mission, returning in June, 1896. Another summer was spent on the farm, and another year in the public schools, Richmond. In July, 1897, he was tendered, and accepted, the position of secretary and treasurer of the Brigham Young college, which position he still holds. In the school election of 1900, he was elected a member of the Logan City Board of Education, the only elective office he ever held. He is a man of culture, experience and ability, always faithful to the duties imposed upon him. He has served as Republican county chairman and has done loyal service for his party's cause. He knows the needs of the county, has visited every town and hamlet and is well acquainted with our people. The diversified occupations of his life, his personal popularity, his ability and integrity, make him a formidable candidate for the dignified office of State Senator, and he goes into the campaign with more than even chances in his favor.

Fred Turner, candidate for sheriff, was born in London, England, August 17, 1847; came to the United States, March, 1857; lived in different parts of the Eastern States until 1861. He and his parents were some of the first settlers of Hyde Park. In early life he was a freighter at mines and other places, and was subjected to hardships; was a member of the Corps of Minute Men under Thos. E. Nicks and Bishop Marlon Lewis; moved from Hyde Park to Logan in 1880. Has occupied several positions in business. The name and man is already well known in this state and county.

The Republican nominee for County Commissioner for Cache county from the south end, Mr. Charles L. Anderson of Hyrum, was born in that city 36 years ago. He received a common school education in the district schools of Hyrum, and afterwards spent four years at the B. Y. College of Logan, receiving his diploma as a graduate

The President's Views on Party Factions.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29.—"I have no use for a man who cares more for the defeat of a member of his party, who belongs to another faction, than he does for the defeat of the common enemy—the Democrats."

President Roosevelt made this remark today to a visiting delegation of Republicans from the state of Washington. It was brought out in the course of a conference in which factional differences among Republicans in that state were discussed. It was represented that one of the factions had gone so far as to declare it would support Democratic candidates unless their opponents withdrew in the party subscribed to certain policies.

The President was urged to do something to harmonize these differences, and he expressed a willingness to do so. Then it was that he made the observation quoted above.

The President is said to have made this statement with great earnestness, and to have emphasized the point that now is the time to meet the Democrats with a united front instead of indulging in controversies and bickerings over issues of a minor nature.

Epitomized, the President's position is that outside the great cardinal principles upon which the Republican party is founded there are issues which honest men within the party may differ. Such questions, the President believes, should not engender factional disturbances to the extent of sacrificing Republican candidates, especially at a time when the Republican control of all branches of the government is at issue and when a Republican victory means so much in the Presidential campaign two years hence.

from the Normal department. He taught school with good success for four years in different parts of Utah. But his desire for outdoor life and a wider field of operation led him to try his hand at farming, ranching, and stock-raising finally joining with this, mountain dairying. While numbers of citizens were cautiously considering the advisability of going into the creamery business, Mr. Andersen launched out in this industry alone, almost empty handed, and has in a few years, by pluck, energy and thorough business methods, established a home industry which is bringing to Hyrum $10,000 annually.

His varied experiences upon the farm, in the school room, in the saddle, and in business enterprises gives him a wide range of good, sound judgment, and eminently fits him for discharging the duties of the office to which his many friends are anxious he should be elected.

Mr. Anderson is a good votegetter, as was demonstrated at the last city election in Hyrum, when he won out by his Democratic opponent by a good majority, and is looked upon today as a sure winner on Nov. 4th.

Mrs. Rebecca Eames, Republican candidate for Recorder, was born at Farmington, Davis county, Utah, Nov. 2, 1854. Her parents, Benjamin and Mary Williams, emigrated from Wales to Pennsylvania in 1848, and came to Utah in 1853, settling at Farmington. They afterward moved to Logan, about the year 1859, and have since resided here. The family had ever been engaged in farming and ranching and have always been favorably known. Mrs. Eames was married to Joseph Eames, son of Nathaniel and Esther Eames, in December, 1876. Three children were born to this happy union. One of these, a sweet little girl, was called early in life to a better land. The husband was killed in Logan canyon in 1880. Mrs. Eames has held innumerable ecclesiastical positions and has filled them with great honor to herself. She has ever been regarded as trustworthy under any and all circumstances. She has served the people gratuitously for many years and many feel that it is time she should be getting something out of it. She is regarded as a capable woman, having had such experience as to fit her for such duties as pertain to the Recorder's office. She is known throughout the county having been engaged in work that necessitated her traveling a great deal, and none can say aught against her.

Jos. J. Richardson, candidate for assessor, was born in Smithfield in 1870. He attended the public schools until about 18 years old, and afterward the Agricultural College. He left for a mission in February, 1895, and was gone two and a half years. He went on another mission for 5 months in the south part of the state. He has interested himself in the Mutual Improvement work and is a counselor to Bishop Woodruff of Smithfield. He has followed the cattle and farming business and is a first class business man, as well as an intelligent citizen. He will be a splendid assessor.

Jacob N. Larsen, candidate for county clerk, was born at Paradise, Utah, March 11, 1871. He graduated from the B. Y. College of Logan in 1892, and taught in the district schools of Paradise for six years. He was justice of the peace during this time for two years. He filled a mission in the states of Nebraska and Missouri from July, 1898, to December 1900, and taught school two years in the Trenton Schools. He is now teaching at Paradise? Mr. Larsen is well qualified for the position of county clerk, to which he is bound to be elected. He is a fine type of Utah's sturdy and intelligent young men, and is well worthy the votes and confidence of his fellow citizens.

No one knowing Tom Smart can doubt that he would make an excellent commissioner. He is thorough in everything, capable, and understands the duties thoroughly. He is also in close touch with the needs of the county. Republicans who know of the great financial assistance he has been to the party during the past few campaigns feel that the party should stand by him to a man. At the last campaign he not only donated more liberally than any other man in the county, but also covered every dollar furnished by the State Central Committee—giving dollar for dollar. This should not be forgotten by the Republican voters, for it is largely through his financial assistance that the party in Cache stands a show for victory this fall. Tom has always been in the fight to lick the Democrats and when that is accomplished he is willing to quit, and not before.

Brigham A. Hendricks, candidate for Commissioner on the Republican ticket is the son of Wm. and Mary J. Hendricks of Richmond. His father is a native of Kentucky and came to Utah with the pioneers and distinguished himself in the Mormon Battalion. Mr. Hendricks was born in Salt Lake City and is now in his 42nd year. His early life was spent in farming, freighting and railroading. He is a self-made man and in everything he has undertaken has become master of the situation. He has filled a mission in the Southern states and Western states respectively; is now a successful farmer and is known as a successful bridge builder. He is an all-round good fellow and a man in whose hands the county's business will be safe.

Mr. W. W. Maughan, candidate for county attorney, is too well known to need any introduction to the people of Cache county. His ability as a lawyer is recognized and that the legal business of the county would be safe in his hands is not doubted.

Karl C. Schaub, candidate for surveyor, is thoroughly competent, and it has been said that he will be elected by a unanimous vote. Possibly this is not true, but that he will be elected is a safe prediction.

Over The Fence.

The first presentation in this city of a new musical comedy entitled "Over the fence," from the pen of C. Herbert Kerr, was thoroughly enjoyed by two large audiences at the Empire theatre yesterday afternoon and evening. The performance is one that is full of good comedy that kept the audiences in a continual uproar during the entire three acts. The people went there to be amused and they certainly were judging from the happy frame of mind that the audiences left after the performances. There is enough in the play to please everyone with its catchy airs, bleached blondes and brunettes, excellent comedians and handsome costumes. William Dunlap as an outdoor tourist seemed to develop some very amusing "Happy Hooligan" touches in his work. As a funmaker Mr. Joe E. Willard as "The German Brewer," who manages so successfully to butcher the English language, deserves a great deal of credit for his clever work. A favorable impression was made on the audience by Miss Lulu Konari as "Elvina Growler." She has a good voice and a pleasing manner. The Ningsley sisters took the house by storm by the excellent manner in which they presented the specialties. As an up-to-date musical farce comedy "Over the Fence" cannot be improved upon and there is no reason why they should not do a good week's business at the Empire theatre this week.—Denver News, Oct. 20.

This company comes to the Thatcher Opera House Tuesday evening.

THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

1. We reaffirm our allegiance to the Republican party and endorse the platform adopted by the Republican State convention at Ogden, in 1902.

2. We welcome into our ranks the many earnest men and women who have abandoned the party without an issue and we call especial attention to the wonderful growth of the Republican party in Cache county.

3. We point with pride to the establishment of the sugar factory in Cache county as a result of Republican policies and Republican promises. Two years ago the Democratic party of Cache county ridiculed our promises in this direction. Today the factory, pouring its hundred thousands into the purses of a contented and prosperous people, is the standing rebuke of its scoffers.

4. We congratulate the Republican party of Cache county and of the State upon the selection of our stalwart son, Hon. Joseph Howell, for Representative in Congress. We pledge in advance his faithful and loyal service to the people of Utah when elected.

5. We pledge the Legislative nominees of this convention to use their best efforts to secure such legislation as is particularly needed by this county and its institutions. We favor the enactment of laws by our state legislature providing for the improvements and building of public highways and of their more immediate supervision by the state, and we also pledge our candidates to introduce bills looking to that end and to work for their passage.

6. We are in favor of a business-like and economical administration of county affairs; we believe the expenses of the county administration can be materially reduced. We view with alarm the increasing tax rate despite the fact that the assessment and valuation of county property have materially increased. The present state of our county roads is most deplorable and this convention demands of its candidates for county commissioners a more judicious expenditure of the county funds in keeping the roads in proper condition.

7. We ask the co-operation and support of all those who favor the above declaration of principles and who are in accord with the thinking, liberal and progressive sentiment of the times.

The Estey Piano.

In 1869 General J. J. Estey the great organ builder of Brattleboro Vt. went to New York City and built one of the finest and largest exclusive piano factories in the United States. He made a piano which excelled all others for tone quality, responsive touch and general workmanship. Today the Estey Company is swamped with orders and it is almost impossible to get enough Estey Pianos to supply our customers. We were promised only four Estey Pianos in October and three of them were sold before they arrived. If you desire an Estey Piano for Christmas you must hand in your order at once. The celebrated Newman Organ leads the world for sweet tone and patented improvements.

Harris Music Co.
C. M. Harris, Manager.

A vote for the Republican county ticket means a vote for good, solid, substantial business men—men who are thoroughly capable and worthy. It not only means this, but it means a vote to sustain the Republican party of the entire United States. A vote for the Democratic county ticket means a vote to sustain the party of free trade and delinquency.

HAS A CROOKED TONGUE

The Journal Gets Mixed in telling What Republicans Stand for

And in the Article Below Is Set Straight in the Matter.

In a long editorial last week the Journal told of some of the evils that the Republican party stands for as seen through its inverted glasses. The friends of the Republican party are better qualified to tell what it stands for than its enemies. Here are some of the things for which it stands:

First, for a continuation of the prosperous times it inaugurated five years ago and which we now enjoy.

For laws that will regulate and control trusts for the public good.

For extending to our new territories the education, liberty and blessings we now enjoy.

For a tariff to protect and encourage new industries at home that will employ our own people.

For a continuation of the policy of President Roosevelt to reclaim by irrigation, at Government expense, the millions of acres in this arid region, thus making homes for our sons and daughters and enriching our state and nation.

For a policy within the state that will extend the sugar and dairy interests, encourage new enterprises and develop our resources and enrich our people.

These have been the policies of the party in the past; they are its policies for the future. Every voter knows how well it has fulfilled its promises. Compare this record with what Democracy has done.

In 1892 it promised us prosperity such as we had never known. It gave us Grover Cleveland and the Wilson tariff. With them came 6 cent wool, 6 cent eggs, 13 cent butter, depression, disaster and free soup, and to add insult to injury they tell us now that Grover was a Republican.

Later they took up Bryan and free silver. They told us that prosperity could never come without 16 to 1 silver. Did they tell the truth? In those days they told us also that the tariff was no longer an issue. The great question that had been the distinguishing feature between the parties for fifty years was not dead.

You don't hear them talk free silver now, that's dead too, we guess. Now we have trusts and imperialism, but where is the prophet that can tell what their issue will be two years hence? No wonder D. O. Rideout said in disgust, "I am tired of a party that has to chase around every two years for an issue on which to stand."

Voters in Cache county, compare these records of the past and see if they are not true; and you who still hold on to the old hulk consider well if it is not to your interests to align yourselves with the party of fixed and definite purposes that can point you to what it has done and not forever stuff you with empty promises.

Definition of a Kiss.

Kiss is a noun, it is a name; proper noun because it's the proper thing to do when they are ready and the heart is willing; plural number because two perform it, common gender, because it is performed by one of each sex; possessive case, because it possesses a delicate infatuation for the human race and agrees with the parties performing the act. Kissing is closely connected with "buss" which is a good old backwoods expression meaning a kiss that is highly enjoyed by two greenhorns who have powerful lungs to perform the act with. In this case buss means one kiss; rebus means kiss again; pluribus means a number of kisses; hornibus means to be caught by the old folks; meribus means to steal a kiss; symplibus means to kiss the hand instead of the lips; blunderbus means to kiss an old maid by mistake, and omnibus means to kiss all present, including the mother-in-law.

William C. Parkinson.

We are pleased to note that our old townsman, William C. Parkinson is nominated for county treasurer on the Republican ticket. William is probably best known in this end of the valley, therefore, it may not be out of place to say to our good Utah brethren, that nowhere in the state could you select a man with better business ability, with better qualifications, and one more honest and capable than Hon. W. C. Parkinson. If he were with us again, we know that the people, regardless of party lines, would all vote for him.—Preston Standard.
